Michael's practice is focused primarily in the areas of emerging and growth technology companies, venture capital, M&A transactions, and corporate governance.

As a member of the Corporate Department, Michael advises technology and other emerging companies through each stage of growth, counseling founders, management teams and boards on pre-incorporation and formation matters, corporate governance, employment matters and strategic commercial transactions, equity and debt fundraising activities, and mergers and acquisitions. He also serves as lead counsel to venture capital investors in connection with venture and growth equity investments in operating companies as well as the management of a fund's portfolio companies.

Michael represented his tech and VC clients on 72 financings in 2021 aggregating over $1B in deal proceeds.

Michael previously served in the position of co-chair of the Boston Bar Association's Committee on Venture Capital and Emerging Companies.

Prior to joining Morse, Michael was a member of the Technology Companies group at Goodwin Procter LLP.
