

Morse Serves as Counsel to Agrivida in Acquisition by Novus International, Inc.

February 14, 2023

Morse is pleased to announce the successful acquisition by Novus International, Inc., of Morse client Agrivida, a biotechnology company focused on developing and commercializing a new generation of enzyme solutions to feed livestock more efficiently, reduce negative environmental impacts, and produce more healthful food.

Founded in 2003, Agrivida is committed to using technology to produce wholesome, affordable food in an efficient and sustainable way. Agrivida's team is led by food and agribusiness industry executives and scientists with expertise in the fields of biochemistry, plant biology, molecular biology, and nutrition. Through their INTERIUS™ technology, Agrivida eliminates the need for additives, ultimately reducing costs to farmers, minimizing feed waste, and improving the environmental footprint of the entire process.

Joseph Martinez, Jonathan Gworek, Timothy Manning, and Eric Lavin served as corporate counsel to Agrivida in the transaction with support from Morse specialists Rebecca Alperin, Stan Chalvire, Dave Czarnecki, Faith Kasparian, Matthew Mitchell, Ryan Perry, Demetri Mandilas, and Katelen Dunphy,
