

Morse Serves as Counsel to Grain Ecosystem in Series Seed Financing

April 10, 2025

Morse is pleased to share that Grain Ecosystem, a digital-first platform integrating waste-to-value solutions into supply chains, has announced its Series Seed financing round, led by Elevate Ventures. This investment will enhance Grain's platform capabilities, expand its customer base, and broaden access to decarbonization solutions across key industries.

Grain's platform digitizes the traditionally complex process of developing waste-to-value projects, focusing on biogenic and organic waste facilities, as well as regenerative farming. Their platform is designed for organic waste producers all of sizes — from independent agribusinesses to national corporations — to help reduce costs, unlock revenue through carbon markets, and foster greater collaboration. This investment validates Grain's innovative approach and empowers the company to further drive meaningful change in the industry.

Morse attorneys Dan Blanchard and Elizabeth Resteghini served as counsel to Grain in this transaction, providing thoughtful guidance and strategic decision making to deliver a successful outcome for all parties involved.

Grain CEO Ryan Letourneau shared, "Securing this investment marks a major step forward for Grain and the future of waste-to-value solutions. The strategic partnership with Morse as our legal counsel played a key role in making this possible. We're now poised to scale our impact like never before!"

Additional details on the series seed financing can be found in Grain's press release.
