of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, usurpation of corporate opportunities, trademark infringement, and trade secret violations. Paige also assists the Intellectual Property department at Morse in adversarial trademark matters before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board.

Prior to joining Morse, Paige worked as an associate for a litigation firm focusing on commercial disputes, including construction litigation. Paige is known for being well-liked by her clients and for bringing a realistic approach to even the most contentious disputes.

Representative Matters

- Successfully defended a consulting services company in a multi-day jury trial, securing a decisive victory in an employment discrimination lawsuit based on alleged violations of the Massachusetts Paid Family Leave Act and related standards.
- Obtained a multi-million dollar judgment in federal court on behalf of her client for willful and malicious trade secret misappropriation and violations of Massachusetts Consumer Protection Law.
- Obtained a preliminary injunction in federal court on behalf of a manufacturer of near infrared analyzers enjoining two competitors and several former employees from using or disclosing the client's trade secrets and confidential information, as well as prohibiting those competitors from selling certain products and services to existing customers of the client.
- Successfully completed a trial before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board establishing a likelihood of confusion between her client's registered USPTO trademark, which resulted in a rejection of the applicant's application for a similar mark.
- Assisted her client in resolving a dispute with his business partner involving division of business assets.
